

DUFFY IS BITTER IN CONDEMNATION OF REPUBLICANS

Industrial Commission Head
Speaks At Democratic Meeting Here.

PLAYS DAUGHTERTY
FOR COURT ACTION

Davis Administration Even Worse Mess, Speaker
Declares.

Leaders of the Republican party, both national and state, came in for a vigorous denunciation at the hands of Thomas J. Duffy, of Columbus, formerly of East Liverpool, chairman of the state industrial commission, speaking at a Democratic meeting Monday evening in the High school auditorium.

Asserting that "since the beginning of the Harding regime in 1921, plutocracy has ruled with an iron hand, wooden head and a stony heart," Chairman Duffy bitterly condemned the attitude of the government leaders during the recent railroad strike, assailing Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty for his part in securing the injunction against the railroad workers.

Attacks Daugherty
"It cannot be said of the Harding administration that was neutral during the dispute between capital and labor but rather that it took the side of the strong against the weak by using a club, known as an injunction, to force labor to give in to capital," declared the speaker.

The speaker was introduced by Harry A. Gager, chairman of the city Democratic committee, after a brief talk in which Ralph C. Benedum, of East Liverpool, party candidate for state legislature, and Clarence Wetzel, of Lisbon, candidate for county auditor, were introduced.

The address here marked the close of a speaking tour of the state by Chairman Duffy. Starting at East Liverpool Saturday night the party visited Salineville, East Palestine and Salem Monday. Duffy was accompanied here by J. J. Weisend, Ralph C. Benedum and Edward O'Neal of East Liverpool. Duffy left late Monday night for Columbus.

Reviews Rail Strike
Chairman Duffy's speech in part follows:

"During the railroad strike President Harding drew up a plan of his own which he presented to both sides. The workers accepted it but the owners refused it, saying there were a few objectionable features in it. There after about a week's pause the president presented another plan, this time however, the 'objectionable' features were eliminated.

"What happened then? The railroad owners accepted but the workers refused. Immediately then the attorney general of the United States, like a thief in the night, stole away to Chicago where he secured an injunction against the railroad workers.

"That injunction obtained by Harry Daugherty was in direct conflict with our constitution. The judge who gave this order tried to do that which is refused even to congress. In his speech at Canton recently Daugherty gave as his reasons for securing the injunction that murderers, ruffians and other criminals were embroiled in (Continued on seventh page.)

High School Plans To Make Tug-o-War An Annual Contest

Tuesday morning in assembly at the High school Mr. Reeves, coach of the Sophomore tug-of-war team, directed a miniature tug-of-war between the Freshmen and Sophomores, the Freshmen winning.

The playlet was followed by an interesting talk on college tug-of-war and how they tend to develop school spirit as any other athletic contest does. Mr. Reeves urged all the students to witness the tug-of-war Tuesday night as a feature of the Halloween celebration on Main st. If this successful it probably will be an annual event in the High school.

The High school orchestra gave a number of popular selections.

FORD NEGOTIATING PURCHASE OF BIG COAL PROPERTIES

Deal Involves Estimated
Value Of $10,000,000
In Ohio Lands.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 31.—A coal land deal involving an estimated value of $10,000,000 was reported to be in progress of negotiation here today between Henry Ford of Detroit and the Wayne Coal company, the largest bituminous mine stripping operators in the world.

Approximately 30,000 acres of choice land in Harrison, Jefferson, Perry and Coshocton counties in Ohio and Washington county in Pennsylvania are the properties for which Ford is reported to be here to purchase.

Samuel M. Dunbar, president of the Wayne Coal company, when asked point blank whether such a deal was being negotiated, said:

"I can neither deny or affirm this report. I am bound by the seal of confidence which prohibits discussions of any phase of this question."

Ford could not be located at any of the hotels or clubs and one report said he was a guest of Mr. Dunbar. The coal property reported under consideration produces about 4,000 tons a day under normal conditions, with an average of 500,000 tons annually. If Ford gets this property he will save 40 cents a ton on freight differential due to the proximity of his railroad to the fields and to the rate-making scheme of railroads in allowing the differential on coal from the Ohio fields in question.

Several other large corporations are also reported after the Wayne company's holdings.

Crouch And McPhail Give Bond And Are Now At Liberty.

Anthony Hull, believed to be a ring leader of the gang of six boys arrested by Salem and Alliance police in connection with recent robberies, was taken to the county jail at Lisbon Monday afternoon, where he will await the action of the grand jury on charges of burglary and larceny.

Kenneth Crouch and Frank McPhail, also members of the gang, are at liberty under bond to await the action of the grand jury. Bond for Crouch in the sum of $100 was furnished by his mother Monday night. John Rogers, Salem, is in the city jail in default of a $5 fine assessed by Mayor John W. Post, Tuesday morning when he was arraigned on a charge of intoxication. Rogers failed to pay the fine and will repose behind the bars until it is paid.

Harry Shafer paid a fine of $5 when brought before the mayor on an intoxication charge. Shafer was arrested by Officer Gray Monday night after a scuffle.

Plant Burns, Loss Is Estimated At $15,000

Alliance, Oct. 31.—Loss in the fire at the American Steel Foundries plant early Sunday morning when the fire brick shed was totally destroyed and the contents of the building greatly damaged by flames and water was placed at $15,000 by the works manager, Alex Robertson.

The fire broke out about 1 o'clock and the wooden structure was quickly enveloped in flames which were visible in the skies for a considerable distance. Thirty minutes before a watchman at noon the plant shut down for over the week-end and it was deserted except for five watchmen. Origin of the fire was not determined.

NEED ONLY $3,000 TO REACH GOAL IN COMMUNITY DRIVE

Teams Make Effort To End
Campaign By Thursday Evening.

Captains and workers of the 11 teams in the drive to raise $30,000 for the Salem Welfare association will meet at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the Chamber of Commerce to wind up the big drive.

An additional sum of $2,854.40 was reported Monday evening, bringing the total paid and pledged to date to $26,402.14.

The executive committee reported that enough more had been promised so that only $3,000 remained between the campaigners and the desired goal.

L. R. Metzger, chairman of the executive committee, proposed that his group should endeavor to find 20 men who would give an additional pledge of $100 each and that each team captain undertake to raise an additional $50 except Team No. 5, captained by A. W. Stoner, better known throughout the campaign as "the gas house gang" which although composed of newcomers made an enviable record in this drive and will undertake to raise $500.

A pledge of $1,000 was received from the Salem plant of the American Steel & Wire Co., announcement of which fired the workers with a determination to carry on and cross the goal line by Thursday evening.

W. H. Mullins has again offered to pay for the three suppers given to the campaign workers at the Elks club on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights. This will mean that the entire amount of money subscribed can be turned over to the four institutions which are the beneficiaries of the campaign, inasmuch as there was practically no other expense in connection with the campaign.

TRAFFIC TIED UP BY DERAILED CAR

Service over the Y. & O. Interurban lines between Leetonia and Salem was delayed for several hours Tuesday morning, as the result of a northbound East Liverpool-Salem car being derailed near the Leetonia station about 6 a. m.

To care for the traffic, cars of the Stark Electric lines were operated to Leetonia where passengers for Youngstown and southern points transferred to the Y. & O. cars.

Officials of the company expect to have the service resumed this afternoon.

Damages To Autos And New Cement Walk Reported By Residents.

Numerous complaints have been received at city hall regarding Hallowe'en pranks being staged within the past few days, in which a considerable amount of damage has resulted.

One automobile owner reported damage amounting to about $125 caused by his new machine by a very liberal application of brown soap, the dye in the soap eating through the polish on the car. Another reported that milk had been poured into the radiator of his machine causing damages estimated at $50.

Property damage estimated at $70 was caused when a number of boys are said to have removed coverings from a newly made cement walk, leaving their footprints.

Police have been asked to watch for offenders tonight.

Cleveland, Oct. 31.—Clad in a dark blue suit, her face powdered in the style most approved by women kind, Mrs. Mabel C. Champion, pretty Texas "sphinx," on trial for the murder of Thomas O'Connell here last July, was to tell her story of the early morning happenings that resulted in O'Connell's death to Judge Benon and a jury late today in an effort to escape the death chair.

Since her arrest immediately following the killing, she has maintained an unbroken silence of the events of the night, and on other matters has only exclaimed that she kept silent in order that her aged parents would not learn of her plight.

He was taken to his home where he is said to be resting comfortably.

5-POWERED NAVAL TREATY MAY DIE A SLOW, EASY DEATH

France And Italy Fail To Ratify Pact And May Never Do So.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The five-powered naval treaty produced by the Washington armament conference at such a cost of time and effort and hailed as marking a new era in world's history, is in serious danger of dying a slow, easy death.

This disconcerting fact was borne home today upon officials of the American government by developments abroad within the last 60 days which have admittedly put ratification of the treaty into the far distant future.

A treaty does not become operative until all the five powers have ratified it and deposited their ratifications in Washington. Great Britain, the United States and Japan—the five-three powers—have ratified. France and Italy—the one-six-two powers—have not ratified, and there is little likelihood of their doing so in the near future.

The governments in France and Italy which negotiated the treaty have fallen and both of them are succeeded by governments of a more imperialistic turn of mind.

COLUMBIANA VIEWS MUMMERS PARADE

A parade five blocks long and dancing featured the mardi gras celebration staged at Columbiana Monday night. A large crowd of residents and visitors participated in the observance and following the parade a street dance was enjoyed until it became too cold to remain out of doors.

The merry makers then went to the American Legion rooms where an East Palestine orchestra played for the dancers. The Columbiana band furnished music for the celebration.

YOUTH DESCRIBES MURDEROUS MARCH OF MINERS ARMY

Witness In Trial Gives Graphic Story Of
March Of 1,000.

Wellsburg, W. Va., Oct. 31.—The first big sensation of the trial of John Kaminski, boy miner, on trial here for first degree murder following the fatal Cliftonville mine battle, came this morning when the state placed Albery Meyers, 17-year-old union miner of Avella, Pa., on the stand. Meyers turned state's evidence.

The witness gave a graphic story of the formation of the miners army in the Pennsylvania town, which he declared numbered 1,000 persons, and of the attack on the mine that resulted in the death of Sheriff H. H. Duval and seven union miners.

Meyers stated he had previous knowledge that the miners intended to march on Cliftonville mine and he went to the Avella bridge to see who was going.

The miners army was about an hour in forming and he saw Kaminski in the crowd. He was approached by a man whom he recognized as a union miner and told that "anyone who didn't join the march would be shot."

Under this threat he fell in line. He heard Kaminski tell others that he had a gun and on different occasions he saw Kaminski at the front and rear of the line. When the march started, he was told to "either go or die."

On cross examination Meyers story was under indictment for murder as was unshaken but he admitted he was a result of the Cliftonville battle.

FALLS BETWEEN CARS, HURT BADLY

Leetonia Man Is Brought To City Hospital In Critical Condition.

Alex Abblett, 24, of Leetonia, was brought to the Salem City hospital at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday, following an accident at the Cherry Valley mines, at Leetonia, in which he was painfully injured.

Abblett sustained serious bruises and lacerations about the back and other parts of his body were badly bruised. Little information was secured from fellow workers at the mine regarding the accident. It is believed, however, that Abblett fell between the mine cars, causing his injuries. Hospital attendants reported Tuesday that Mr. Abblett was getting along well.

THEATER PACKED TO GREET PORTER, FORMER SALEMITE

Pennsylvania Congressman
Welcomed By Former Schoolmates.

ADDRESSES LARGE
REPUBLICAN RALLY

Points To Accomplishments
Of Party, Urges Return
Of Republicans.

Congressman Stephen G. Porter, representative from the 32nd Pennsylvania district, told a large audience at the Grand theater Monday night of the accomplishments of the Republican party and declared that it is essential that the present administration be given the support of the people at the coming election.

Having been born and reared at Hard Scrabble, southwest of Salem Mr. Porter received a host of his former schoolmates and friends in the lobby before taking his place on the stage. In his introductory remarks he referred to his boyhood days here and then paid a tribute to Congressman B. Frank Murphy of this district. He was introduced by Atty. H. L. McCarthy.

Return of Republican officials was urged by the speaker to protect the nation from becoming involved in the league of nations. He recalled at length the accomplishments of the limitation of arms conference and to the program of economy in governmental expenses carried out by the present Republican administration. In part his speech follows:

"There are many important issues in this campaign but the big, outstanding one is the imperative necessity for affirming, without qualification, the verdict of the people against the league of nations, and thus forever crush the attempts to enroll us in Europe's political confessions.

"If we show in this election the slightest wavering, the floodgates of foreign propaganda will be opened wide and the partisans of the league encouraged to revive their efforts.

"The people's verdict against the league was so flatly in favor of Washington's warning to remain out of entangling political alliances with European countries that the statesmen of these countries stopped for a time their efforts to have us abandon a policy as old as our nation. Advocates of the league have recently renewed their activities to obtain a reversal of our decision.

Prevents Armenian War

"Our unlimited generosity to the world's afflicted ones, our beneficent form of government, our unselfish entrance into the great war, our policy of asking neither for indemnity nor land at the peace table, earned for us the goodwill of the masses throughout the world.

"Without regard for race or creed we have served in every way for human betterment and my hope is that on Nov. 7 the voters will again say that we, a free people, reserve the right in all circumstances to lend our helpful hand to the world's need in our own time and in our own way, without interference, without dictation, from any other nation or power.

"If the Republican congress had accepted President Wilson's advice, we should now be spending yearly $200,000,000 public money in maintaining our army.

A Warning From England

ALTHOUGH the habit of cigarette smoking has been increasing among the women of this country in the last few years, it has not yet become a feminine custom as common as it has long been in England. English women have been habitual smokers much longer than ours; and at present it is said that they smoke almost as generally as do the men. They do it quite openly; and may be seen puffing away almost anywhere—in cafes of course and in taxicabs. Lately there has been a revolt against the indulgence, from the London physicians, who are becoming alarmed at the results on feminine nerves. One English medical authority, Dr. Hollander, is quoted as saying, "Women carry smoking to extremes. A woman's system is so predominated by sympathetic or emotional nerves, that she is far more liable to be upset by an overdose of nicotine than a man." Another physician voices fear that the habit is having an ill effect on woman's functions as mothers. Also the expense of the habit, both for women and for men of course, has been much commented on.

Of course, no one claims that cigarette smoking is exactly a healthful proceeding for either sex. But the fact that it is a habit of some special danger to feminine nerves seems to be pretty well established. Also that it is a difficult habit to break. Wherefore, it would seem to be only wise on the part of our women to read the warning from the case of the English women who are so markedly overdoing the thing.

Prosperity Under Republicans

RESULTS alone are of value in estimating the quality of legislation as it affects any particular part of the population. As Republican Chairman Adams relates in his statement to the country, "this administration in 20 months has turned an army of 5,000,000 idle wage earners into an army of wage earners profitably employed." This gratifying change from conditions inherited from the Democratic administration has been brought about in large part through the operation of wise legislation by congress. Labor is not ignorant of the benefits that have come to it in consequence, and its representative bodies have officially accorded credit where credit is due.

The legislative committee of the American Federation of Labor classified 17 acts of the present congress as favorable to labor and mentioned not a single law which in its opinion is detrimental to the interests of the wage earners. Here is a record on which voters may rely as authoritative. The Republican congress and the Republican administration of President Harding have been constant in their devotion to the welfare of the country, the attainment of which is impossible if laws detrimental to labor are enacted and enforced. Our further prosperity is dependent on the retention of congressional control in the hands of Republicans. As the country prospers labor prospers.

Polite Pig Waits To Be Served By Master

York, S. C., Oct. 31.—"Piggy Boy," a 260-pound pig is a pet of John S. Hartness, a banker, living at Sharon, near here. "Piggy Boy" is different from most pigs in that he doesn't attempt to put his nose into the bucket when he sees his master approaching with food. He runs to his pen and is ready for the food when it is poured into the trough. "Piggy Boy's" best chum among the animals in the Hartness barnyard is a cow. He sleeps every night with the cow, whose side serves him as a pillow.

Powder to Lay Road Dust.

Calcium chloride, a chemical powder, is being used to lay the dust on the stretches of the Prince of Wales highway between Brockville and Ottawa. The experiment is being carried out by the department of highways with a view of determining the relative values of the chemical and of oil for this purpose, and two stretches of roadway, at Spencerville and Manotick respectively, are being treated. The chemical absorbs and retains moisture and forms a coating over the surface of the road. Its cheapness as opposed to an oil treatment is said to be considerable and as both treatments have to be repeated frequently the department hopes to effect a material saving.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Hair that loses its color and luster, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our Grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and luster and gives it an appearance of abundance.

1921 ESTABLISHES WEATHER RECORD

"The year 1921 was easily the warmest year of official record for Ohio," W. H. Alexander, meteorologist, Columbus, will state in his annual report made through the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station.
The report will state that 1921 is the only year of the 39 years of record without a temperature below zero at some place in the state; that every month in the year, except August, averaged above normal; that 1921 had the highest yearly average temperature for the state, and the smallest annual temperature range, 101 degrees.

The significance of this low range will be better understood, Mr. Alexander, continues, when one remembers that the 39-year average annual range in temperature for the state is 124 degrees and that the greatest was 146 degrees in 1899. The absolute range for the state, that is, the difference between the highest and lowest temperature of record, is 152 degrees.

—Holmes

STRENGTH and beauty are the outstanding qualities of the Granby. It is built to endure—built to use, and built to please the eye.

In the Granby Line will be found many beautiful period models—Shearson, Queen Anne, Louis XVI, Adam, Chippendale. Each has distinctive lines and its construction is marked by a close adherence to the period.

Both Upright and Console Table models are built with all the painstaking care for details that marks the finest furniture. Strength, sturdiness is inherent. And the wide range of choice in design enables you to pick the one that will exactly fit and harmonize with your room furnishings.

The reproducing apparatus has been designed to give perfect results, to eliminate the disagreeable surface noises so objectionable in the usual make of talking machine.

In short, the Granby embodies every desirable feature and quality and includes some that are unique and distinctive.

BOYS EXPLORING CAVE DISCOVERS MAN'S SKELETON

New Castle, Pa., Oct. 31.—The skeleton of Grover R. McQuiston, 32, missing from his home, in Wayne township near here since last Armistice day was found late yesterday in a cave a quarter of a mile from the McQuiston home.

It was discovered by four boys, Andrew Powell, Daniel Burick, Mike Burick and Lloyd Sobzac.

The four boys were out for a stroll. Near the foot of a large tree there was a large hole which the boys had heard led to a cave, and they dared each other to go inside.

They crawled in. It was dark and one of the boys struck a match. The glare disclosed something on the floor of the cave. Sobzac grasped it.

The boys were terrified when they saw that he had a human foot in his hand. They lost no time in getting out of the cave and Coroner J. P. Caldwell and an undertaker were notified.

Identification of the skeleton as that of McQuiston was made positive by means of a watch, the clothing, a purse in which there was $8.04 and a missing front tooth.

McQuiston was of a roving disposition and is said to have written a note a few days previous to his disappearance to a nephew, Leslie Guy, saying he was going across the river Jordan.

Rare Metals Sought By Federal Bureau

Washington, Oct. 31.—An intensive search for rare metals in the United States has been begun by the Bureau of Mines.

Although the mineral resources of the United States are not surpassed by those of any other country, officials of the bureau declared, it is nevertheless true that certain needed minerals exist in this country only in inadequate amounts, or are almost entirely lacking.

"Future exploration," it was stated, may disclose supplies of some of these minerals, but probably will not, as the known geological conditions lead to the belief that they will not be found.

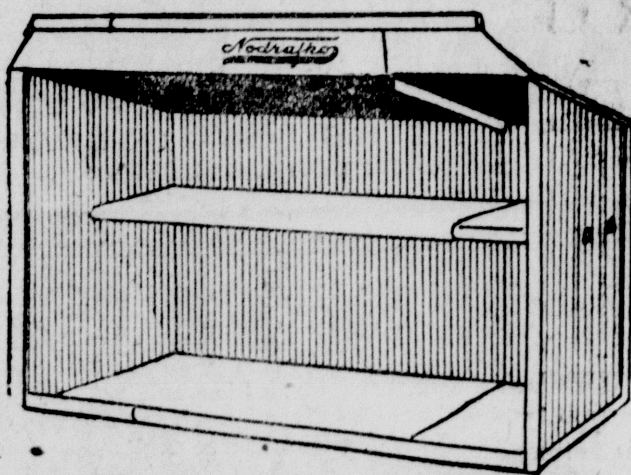

"However, no chances are being taken that such deposits be overlooked, and so the rare and precious metals experiment station of the bureau at Reno, Nev., has undertaken, as one of its principal functions, the discovery, through samples which are sent in to it, of new sources of supply of those rare metals which have never been found in large quantities in the United States."

A special effort is being made by the station to discover sources of platinum, nickel, tin, vanadium, tungsten, cobalt, antimony, chromite and zirconium.

MEXICO'S POTENTIAL WEALTH

Country's Resources, Known to Be Great, Are to Be Subject of Thorough Investigation.

In the state of Coahuila, Mexico, a wild plant is found growing, the leaves of which have long been used in boilers of engines to prevent the foaming of the water. Some years ago the manufacture of a boiler-compound of these leaves was carried on successfully, but the turbulent times caused the industry to be abandoned. It has been proposed that Mexico, instead of shipping its hides to the United States to be tanned and manufactured into leather, shall utilize the hides of its cattle and other animals at home. At present the leather industry is mostly carried on by crude processes of tanning and manufacturing, notwithstanding the fact that there exists in the country an inexhaustible supply of wild vegetation from which tannin acid for the manufacture of leather may be obtained at low cost.

It is to obtain some definite idea of the resources of Mexico in the matter of wild plants and shrubs and the products of forest trees, that the government now has under consideration plans for a careful and thorough survey of these native products of the soil. In connection with this investigation a laboratory will be installed where chemical analysis of specimens of plant life may be made with the view of discovering whether or not they may be made of commercial value.

"IN THE PUBLIC EYE"
BY W. C. & T. Estelle Wright

WOMEN folks are particularly annoyed at the prospect of having to wear glasses for life once they are fitted with them. This does not prove to be the case at such times where the cause of the eye defects are remedied at once. Often it is the case that the lenses prescribed will so correct the imperfect focusing accommodation of the eye that the muscles become stronger and allow the wearer to discard glasses entirely.

LESS GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS NOW

POSTMASTER GENERAL WORK IS APPLYING THE FORMULA IN HIS DEPARTMENT.

TELLS OF INSPECTORS' WORK

Five Hundred Trained and Responsible Men Who Are Welcome Aids to Postmasters and Save the Country Much Money.

Washington.—Previous to the present administration the postal business of the country was cleared through the department at Washington. Two thousand supervisors and clerks were employed here to answer inquiries by form letters, or not at all, or after a while if stress of business permitted. If the postmaster at Laconia wished information he wrote to Washington. He might be referred to the postal laws and regulations, which had not been revised or relapsed since 1913. Cash received by postmasters for sale of stamps, money orders, etc., was kept in separate drawers, a system of physical bookkeeping instituted before postmasters learned to strike a balance or draw checks.

The thought came that all of the postal business originating in a state should be completed there if possible. Decentralization was begun. The responsibilities of the central accounting office of each state, already established, were enlarged. Depots were opened in each state to make supplies easy of access for that state. Information wanted can now be had from the central accounting office by wire or letter in an hour or a day instead of a week or month as before. The additional work at the central accounting offices has been absorbed by their own people through better organization and skilled employees.

Wrong Idea of Inspectors.

Years ago by common consent the public regarded the post office inspector as the evil genius of the service—a mysterious person who might be looking through a peep hole on men at work, or likely to steal up to the cash drawer when an employee was making change for a patron, find him short, disgrace him and slip away, possibly without seeing the postmaster. "I don't if such characteristics ever did apply to a post office inspector," said Postmaster General Work in talking of postal affairs in general. "I know they do not now. The type of men employed in this work would be sufficient refutation in itself. Five hundred men selected by civil service examinations who had four or more years of post office or railway mail experience, under forty years of age, before they could be examined for eligibility, to be again pruned by the chief inspector before appointment in the lower grades—these constitute the post office inspector force. The United States is divided into 15 inspector districts and these men are at work every day somewhere.

"At one time the new postmaster dreaded their first visit from the day of his appointment. Now he usually finds one in the post office to advise, direct and explain. Inspectors go out now on call of a postmaster to help him interpret and apply a new order, or reorganize his delivery routes, or adjust his accounts. Our force has been subdivided into specialist expert classes. They are organizers of post office system, welfare and personnel work, motor vehicle equipment, fraud work, mail delivery, highway robbery, blackmailing, or the locating of criminals who creep into the service seeking opportunity.

Men of Responsibility.

"The post office inspector now understands his duties to be constructive, to find errors and irregularities for the purpose of correcting them and to advise punishment by discipline or reference to the Department of Justice only where intent is evident or the offense was grave. They know that good business, good morals and good morale are inseparable. They know that they are employees of the government, close up, and their responsibilities do not sit lightly.

"Inspections and reorganizations by them of our largest post offices are expected to show annual savings—so far not less than $100,000, and in one case $381,000, through a systematized working plan with the non-employment of 167 auxiliaries carried on the rolls but not needed for good service. They readjusted the railway mail service recently by substituting a surplus list composed of regular clerks for the auxiliary list being carried, effecting an annual saving to the government of more than one million dollars, with an average pay loss to the clerk on this surplus list of $6.60 per month, and saving to the clerks the 6½-hour day on the road. Less government in business calls for more government by individuals with a sense of personal responsibility to the government. More business in government can be and is being applied in the post office service through recognition of individual rights and of the personal equation and the disregard of the mass-labor-commodity theory.

"I have interpreted 'less government in business' to mean less espionage in business, and have set about to encourage initiative and to invite originality. We have invited suggestions and criticisms on the methods in use, and pay rewards for inventions adopted."

FUEL HEAD LIKELY TO HIT BACK

Operators Making Joke of the Fuel Law, It Is Said.

COAL MINES MAY BE SEIZ

Opponents of the Proposed Classification Amendment Busily Engaged in Trying to Defeat It—Ohio Laws Held Discriminatory and Unjust to Wives and Mothers—Central Ohio Teachers Smash Precedent.

Columbus, Oct. 31.—Ohio has a fuel administration and a fair price for coal, but not a great deal of coal is to be obtained in the state, largely because of these facts, it was rumored in Columbus this week.

As a result of this condition Fuel Administrator Neal may take it into his head to show coal operators of the state just how much biting power the administration has and seize enough mines to provide an adequate supply of coal for the state, according to information sent out from Cleveland.

According to the Cleveland dispatches, coal operators from other states attending the directors' meeting of the National Association of Retail Coal Merchants, openly boasted that they are making a joke of the Ohio fuel law and are buying coal in the state at prices ranging from $5 to $6, while operators can sell to dealers in the state at rates ranging from $1 to $2 below the price.

As a result they say they are getting the coal and urged Ohio dealers to buy as much as possible outside the state in order to circumvent the law.

This selling of coal outside the state has led Fuel Administrator Neal and Administrator Potter of Michigan to agree on a conference to be held next week to try and work out a plan preventing this practice so far as Michigan and Ohio are concerned.

Information was received in Columbus from Cleveland to the effect that Fuel Administrator Neal announced he would seize enough Ohio mines to secure an adequate winter's supply of coal for the people of Ohio, unless dealers desisted from the practice of sending the coal outside the state in preference to selling it in Ohio, because of the lower rate allowed in Ohio.

What has become of the proposed constitutional amendments is the question politicians are asking themselves.

The light wine and beer amendment, which is expected by politicians to bring out a record breaking vote, failed in getting city people to register, registration falling off nearly 35 per cent in some cities, and politicians are wondering whether or not the general public cares very much what does become a part of the constitution.

One wet leader in Columbus was heard to remark recently that people have violated the prohibition law so long and so successfully that they do not care a great deal whether beer and wine are legalized. At any rate, beyond an occasional speech by Wayne B. Wheeler against the amendment, or one for it by Homer Durand, little is heard of the measure.

The classification amendment, which it was thought would be lost in the shuffle, has sprung to life, and while there is little indication of work being done for it, its enemies are busily engaged in trying to beat it.

A. P. Sandies, former state secretary of agriculture, asserted it is a classification measure pure and simple and is designed for no other purpose than to put money, mortgages, bonds, etc., on the duplicate at a low valuation, while real estate is boosted out of sight.

Sandies attacked C. A. Dyer, secretary of the Home Protective league, and L. J. Taber, state director of agriculture, both of whom were against a similar amendment three years ago, when it was ignominiously defeated. He wants to know just what brought about the change in their attitude and accuses them of having betrayed the organizations such as the Home Protective league and the Grange, in which both have held high place.

Meantime a rumor was afloat some time ago to the effect that the friends of the amendments would join forces with the wets in an effort to put the amendments across, hoping to get yes votes all the way down the line.

Friends of the amendments apparently have little to say for their pet, but its enemies have plenty to say against it.

The second educational organization to attack the classification amendment went on record this week, when the county school superintendents of Ohio, in session at Columbus, adopted resolutions condemning the bill. County school board presidents, in session here last week, adopted similar resolutions.

The educators assert the amendment gives to each subdivision of the state the power to fix its own classification, and that there will be such a scramble to put personal property on at a low rate that the state tax levy for schools will practically be wiped out.

The tax amendments, if passed, will add these powers and limitations to the constitution:

First—No aggregate tax rate in excess of 15 mills on the dollar can be levied in any tax district without consent of the people.

Second—Levies above the 15-mill limit must be authorized at regular November elections and for specific amounts, periods and purposes; and two-thirds of those voting on such question or a majority of all voting at the election must approve such increase.

Third—No tax in excess of 1 mill on the dollar can be levied for state purposes in any year.

Fourth—The limited levies are to be distributed among overlapping tax districts by local boards, which, if composed of persons holding other offices, must include representatives of the county government, the most populous city and the most populous school district in the county.

Fifth—Legislature would be authorized to substitute other methods of taxation of property in place of present system of taxing according to value; but no property could be relieved of taxation according to value unless taxed by some other method.

Sixth—Legislature would be authorized to tax property according to its true value in money by a uniform rule, but would not be required to make the rule uniform.

It is articles five and six that is bringing down the storm of criticism on the bills from most sources of attack.

According to Sandies and others fighting the amendments, the legislature can delegate to taxing boards of any community the right to fix the valuation, and while the amendment provides no property shall be exempted, they assert there is nothing to prevent it being placed on the duplicate at such a low rate as to practically exempt it.

The operation of classification laws in Kentucky, where the state has been compelled to place a special tax on various industries as a means of raising revenue, is being urged by the amendment's opponents as a reason for voting against it. "Every business man from a bootblack to a banker should be interested in bringing about its defeat," says Sandies.

Meantime the average voter, who admits he knows nothing about the bills, or what they mean, seems to be adopting the old slogan in effect in 1912, when the constitution was amended promiscuously, "When in doubt, vote no."

Ohio's laws are discriminatory and highly unjust to wives and mothers, according to a finding just returned by the National Women's party.

In the report particular stress is laid on the fact that in Ohio discrimination is made in the selection of a guardian for children, the law giving the father the position of natural guardian of his child, with consequent control not only over the child, but over its earnings, savings and money accumulated in any way.

Similar objection is made to the law giving the husband superiority over the wife in making him the head of the house and placing in his hands the selection of the place of abode, even refusing the wife the right to establish a home for voting purposes. The report objects also to the fact that the law gives to the husband control over his wife's services, without entitling her to any return for such services.

Commenting on a decision of the Ohio supreme court in which it was held a wife has no property rights in her husband's services, the report says: "The Ohio supreme court has ruled that a wife has no property interests in her husband's services, and, therefore, may not sue for damages if he is injured. In spite of the fact that in Ohio the wife does not own her services in the home, and is not entitled to any compensation for them, and in spite of the fact that she does not own the services of her children, the Ohio law requires her to assist her husband in supporting the family if he is unable to do so."

"The wife may, in case of divorce, be compelled to pay her husband alimony. One case shows that a wife divorced her husband, and the court allowed him $8,000 alimony, because he was an invalid, although his physical condition was brought on by the misconduct for which his wife divorced him."

Leaders of the party say an attempt will be made to obtain the passage of legislation in Ohio this winter remedying this situation.

The Central Ohio Teachers' association, in session in Columbus, kicked precedent, custom and prejudice galley west when it elected a woman, and an elementary grade teacher at that, president of the organization.

Heretofore a woman had about as much chance as the proverbial celluloid cat being chased through the infernal regions by an asbestos dog, and even a man was out of luck unless he was at least a principal of a third grade high school.

This fifty-third annual convention, however, belonged to the women, and two of them, Miss Ella D. Howe, Columbus, and Miss Abigail Harding, sister of the president, were nominated. Miss Harding withdrew and Miss Howe was elected.

Duffy Is Bitter In Condemnation Of Republicans

(Continued from first page.) the railroad strike. That showed his error for the injunction was secured against the railroad brotherhoods and what does he mean except to compare these railroad union men to murderers and Bolsheviks.

"On behalf of labor I resent this insult to American labor and fling the insult into his teeth. The American laboring people have more real patriotism in their hearts than Daugherty is capable of in his whole make-up."

"When our soldier boys asked for a little recognition for their work in the form of a bonus what were they told. President Harding, after vetoing the bonus in a statement declared that the country could not afford to pay a bonus at this time. But then what did he do?"

"Immediately afterward he declared his intention of calling congress in special session to pass the ship subsidy bill, in which millions and perhaps billions of dollars will be paid out of the United States treasury to build ships for the wealthy for their own personal use. But no, we have not a dollar for the soldier."

Worse in Ohio "The Davis administration here in Ohio has been even worse than the mess handed out to us by the Republicans in Washington. The present state administration should make every patriotic citizen hang his head in shame. Under the reorganization bill the workmen's compensation law cannot last through two more years. Of course crooked politicians are in favor of the bill because they can work crooked politics at the expense of the people."

"If Vic Donahey is elected governor there will be no surplus of $10."

600,000 in the state treasury that he does not know about as was the case with the Davis administration; the people of Ohio will not be compelled to pay expensive taxes and there will be a reduction of the present state levy. There will be efficiency in that administration, not like the present one either. If the efficiency of the Davis administration was churned, the product would be limburger cheese.

"If on Nov. 7 the people of the state of Ohio send back into power a Republican majority in congress, then the administration will know their present policy has been given the O. K. of the people, but on the other hand if you send back to the United States senate Alfre Pomerene and also send a Democratic majority into congress, then the administration will understand beyond a doubt that their policy has been tried and found wanting."

If the practically illimitable interior energy of the atom could be liberated and controlled, we should not have to worry about the steadily decreasing coal supply.

A Successful Man

Among the notable professional men of this country who achieved great success along strictly legitimate lines was Dr. R. V. Pierce. Devoting his attention to the specialty of women's diseases, he became a recognized authority in that line.

Over fifty years ago this noted physician gave to the world a Prescription which has never been equaled for the weaknesses of women. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found out what is naturally best for women's diseases. He learned it all thru treating thousands of cases. The result of his studies was a medicine called Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for backache, headache, weakening pains, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life. Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic so good that druggists everywhere sell it in both tablet and fluid form. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. Write for free medical advice.

Yes, Times Have Changed

A FEW centuries ago the word "idiot" meant a member of the Roman citizenry. Citizens in general would resent the implication that the word conveyed, today. There are still idiots, but the application of word is entirely different from what it was of old. There was also a time when some advertisements had to be taken with a grain of salt. A few misguided advertisers thought they could sell their goods better by misrepresenting them. Those advertisers have long since gone out of business or mended their ways. Hard experience taught that untruthful advertising didn't pay. Other advertisers proved that the only way to advertise successfully, make regular customers, and build up good will was to tell the absolute truth about their goods.

Today you can depend on the merchant or manufacturer who advertises. The concern that tells you frankly what it is doing is a good concern with which to do business. The store that advertises is a progressive store that has something worth while to say to you. And companies that advertise their products or their services believe in them. You can safely share their confidence.

LEETONIA

Saturday was a real gala day for Leetonia, the American Legion having put forth every effort to make it so. All day long streams of people were visiting the places where the exhibits were shown and by night the streets were crowded with citizens and visitors.

The first main attraction being the stand where the numbers were drawn for the $100 prize. At 7:45 Miss Gertrude Shea was called to the stand and blindfolded she drew five numbers, the fifth one in each draw being the one winning the prize. The first prize, $50, was claimed by Harvey Scafeffer. Mrs. Patsy Lavelle carried off second prize, $25; Miss Mary McVee was awarded third prize, $15; and Howard Smith held the ticket for the fourth prize of $10.

The Leetonia Cornet band led the costume parade which was no less than a half mile long and presented a beautiful spectacle.

At 9 o'clock many of the company went to Kelly's park where a masquerade dance was held.

The Legion realized a large sum from the lunches and dinner served at the canteen which will be used in fitting up the new rooms in the Johnson building for the headquarters of the post.

An excellent grade of oil and of large quantity was struck on Saturday on the land owned by Lyder and McKean southeast of Leetonia.

The Y & O. Street Car Co., on Saturday placed a new electric locomotive bought from a Pittsburg firm on the road at Leetonia to serve between Salem and Liverpool.

At the Odd Fellows' meeting last week arrangements were completed for the celebration of the 50th anniversary of Pioneer lodge, 4 O. O. F. of Leetonia to be held at the lodge rooms Thursday evening, Nov. 2. The ritualistic service and program will be preceded by a banquet at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Clark J. Halverstadt gave a banquet Friday evening at her home south of town to the members of her Sunday school class of St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday school. The house and table decorations were lovely in Halloween appointments. The plate favors were small baskets invented by a black kitten holding the place card.

The delicious chicken dinner was served in three courses by members of the losing side in the church attendance contest. Misses Catherine Thrasher and Miss Mary Belhart were among those who were given silver spoons in the contest.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Led Her To Try It

Kenosha, Wisconsin.—"I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My mother had great faith in it as she had taken so much of it and when I had trouble after my baby was born she gave it to me. It helped me so much more than anything else had done that I advise all women with female trouble to give it a fair trial and I am sure they will feel as I do about it.—Mrs. FRED. P. HANSEN, 562 Symmonds St., Kenosha, Wisconsin.

A medicine that has been in use nearly fifty years and that receives the praise and commendation of mothers and grandmothers is worth your consideration.

If you are suffering from troubles that sometimes follow child-birth bear in mind that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's medicine. It is especially adapted to correct such troubles.

The letters we publish ought to convince you; ask some of your women friends or neighbors—they know its worth. You will, too, if you give it a fair trial.

ISOLATION POLICY THOUGHT PERILOUS

GOVERNMENT AND THE PEOPLE OF UNITED STATES REALIZE
WE CAN'T STAND ALOOF.

ROUSED BY TURKISH AFFAIR

Former Governor McCall Pays Tribute to Greece and Declares That Another
World War Means the Obliteration of Civilization.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY

Washington.—The men who are at the head of the government of the United States realize that for three weeks prior to the signing of the armistice at Mudania the world was standing on the brink of another war. And it is the judgment of these men that if war had come it would have been as wide-spread as the recent World war, and more horrible. The danger point seems to have been passed, and for this the authorities here, not to speak of the heads of governments in Europe, are expressing gratitude.

"Is it any wonder that the President and his secretary of state have let it be known within the last week that the government is once more giving serious consideration to what it should do to help make permanent peace more certain?" said one spokesman for the administration. And the same authority remarked that it is not to be thought strange that millions of people in the United States are asking how much longer this government intends to pursue a policy of isolation—a policy which does not extend help to the 41 nations that are trying as best they can to establish and preserve peace in the world.

Many of the communications that are being received here in high official quarters lay stress on the point that the people are in the dark as to the future foreign policy of the United States. There is a call for light.

McCall Praises Greece.

Here is what former Gov. Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts, in politics a Republican, says about it:

"The curtain has not yet gone down on that stupendous tragedy that began eight years ago. One result of the World war that caused all Christendom to rejoice was that the Turk was driven out of Europe. Yet today we see Turkey defiantly issuing an ultimatum to her former conquerors and demanding again to be an European power. All honor to that little hero nation in the eastern Mediterranean which for three years bore the burden put upon her by the allies and struggled to save Asia Minor from becoming another Armenia. Greece was summoned into danger and then betrayed by those whose battles she was fighting.

"She stood as she stood at Thermopylae and at Salamis for western as against Asiatic civilization, and although she was at last overwhelmed by a cruel foe, and thousands of Christians as a result were murdered, she towers today far above those who betrayed her. The nations who have been and are in an unspeakable alliance with the unspeakable Turk have forfeited all claim to the good will of America.

"The war ended only four years ago and yet we are already forgetting. It was a war so vast and made so horrible by all the resources of civilization that all agreed that it was the first duty of the world to make a repetition of it impossible. Since that time invention has prepared the way for more frightful horrors and has put new poison gases and other deadly resources at the service of the devil.

"The short cut to the obliteration of civilization is to have another world war. Either war will destroy the race or the race must destroy war. What are we going to do about it? Are we to rely upon the isolated and spasmodic action of the divided nations upon a question in which all have the common interest of self-preservation? I know the isolated action of a great nation can accomplish much, especially if it is action that means business. And amid that welter of international anarchy that holds sway beyond the Dardanelles and threatens to engulf Europe, the one word of hope for the world was spoken by the clear and mighty voice of England.

What Has America Done?

"But beyond some pious observations, what has the United States done? And yet we could almost see the lighting of Smyrna, could almost hear the groans and shrieks. Many of the victims were our fellow countrymen. What is the use of a nation's being great and strong if it shall not sternly raise its voice, backed by its power, to prevent such infamies?

"Shall we enter the existing League of Nations, or a league with reservations, or the association of nations which Mr. Harding foresaw, but which to the rest of us has thus far been visible only to the eye of faith, or shall we go it alone?"

When a publicist like former Governor McCall asserts that "either war will destroy the race or the race must destroy war," men and women who think are likely to take notice. Nothing may come of the present agitation throughout the country for more light as to what the present administration intends to do about the world situation, but it should be recorded at this time that the officials here are taking the situation very seriously.

taining 200,000 American soldiers in Armenia. And our republic, though not in the remotest degree responsible would have played the role of onlookers. The soundness of Washington's warning against entangling political alliances with European countries never had a more complete vindication than this present situation affords.

Economy in Government

"When the Republican party resumed control of congress on March 4, 1919, after being out of power eight years, it found that the enormous governmental expenditures (especially during the period of the war, many of which were of doubtful propriety) had cast upon the American taxpayer an almost intolerable burden.

"Congress, recognizing the imperative and immediate necessity of restoring the country to a normal condition—especially in the matter of finances—at once put into effect the strictest economy in the operation of the government, and promptly liquidated all outstanding claims or demands, so as to ascertain the exact liabilities of the nation.

"The great problem was tackled earnestly and courageously by congress, and with the sincere and faithful co-operation of President Harding, the results have been gratifying in the extreme.

"As a consequence of careful and intelligent management the total gross debt of the nation was reduced between May 31, 1919, and June 30, 1922, almost $3,000,000,000 and the expenses of government immensely reduced. In 1919 the expense was $18,514,875,955, while in 1922 (fiscal year) it was reduced to $3,375,302,499.

A Steady Reduction

"These treasury reports, showing a steady and substantial reduction each year under Republican control, make it unnecessary to argue that they were brought about only by the exercise of the most careful and watchful handling of the taxpayers' money. In two years the cost of government was cut in two.

"This staggering load of debt was incurred by the Democratic party and the Republican party on assuming control had the disagreeable duty of levying abnormally high taxes to meet these obligations. There was no way of avoiding this. Our debts had to be paid and our credit preserved.

"The Republican party does not claim to be able to work miracles. It does claim its financial record is beyond criticism even by the most flamboyant demagogues and asserts that a return of the Democratic party to power would be an act of stupendous folly and a dire disaster to our country and people.

Ohio Ticket Strong

"In August the Republican voters of Ohio under your splendid primary law, which guarantees the right of every Republican to freely express his choice of candidates for the Republican ticket, in a very spirited contest nominated a full state and congressional ticket.

"It is a fundamental principle of Republicanism that the majority should rule, and it is our duty, no matter whether we voted for the nominee in the primary or not, to cheerfully support the entire ticket. The tickets are exceptionally strong and their election should be a matter of great importance to every citizen in the state.

"Important as these offices undoubtedly are, still there is as I have stated before, a great big outstanding issue, arising from the abnormal state of world affairs, which overshadows everything else, that is, the imperative necessity of affirming the verdict of the people two years ago against entangling alliances with European nations, and thereby settling for all time to come in the minds of the diplomatists of Europe and the pro-leaguers of the United States, that Washington's advice is part of the organic law of the Republic and that the United States of America, the mightiest nation of all history, reserves at all times and in all circumstances the right to work out its own destiny in its own way and in its own time.

U.S. To Return Huge Stock Of Seized Whisky

Washington, Oct. 31.—The government may be compelled to release 250,000 gallons of whisky, seized from ships flying foreign flags outside the three-mile limit and dismiss cases pending in federal courts against the liquor owners and ship operators. This was indicated at the treasury department as a result of the precedent set in the release of the Canadian schooner Emerald, with her cargo of 1,000 cases of whisky.

Dismissal of the charges growing out of the seizures will necessitate the cancellation of bonds, as well as restoration of the ships and their net cargoes to their proper owners. New York lawyers took the lead in making a fight for clients whose vessels have been tied up in litigation, since the prohibition navy, began its operations outside the three-mile zone off American shores.

Officials of the treasury, fully cognizant of the matter, refused to act until the procedure has been decided upon by the department of justice. Before orders are issued for release of any of the ships involved, it is expected that collectors of customs will be asked for certain supplemental reports.

These will be the basis of recommendations that are made to the attorney general. Officials virtually admitted that no effort will be made to sustain in court cases where the issues are identical with those in the Emerald case.

Youngstown.—Mrs. Mayme M. Taylor has filed suit in common pleas court asking $25,000 damages for the death of her husband who she alleges killed himself while under the influence of poisoned liquor.

Lenient Judge Sends Boys To Reformatory For Cruelty To Dog

Denver, Oct. 31.—It is seldom that juvenile Judge Ben Lindsey cannot find sufficient mitigating circumstances to warrant leniency toward some member of the numerous youthful "gangs" that appear before him, but "turpentine" dogs is no sport to be encouraged in "Young America," he believes. For the first time in his 20 years on the juvenile bench Judge Lindsey last week sentenced an entire group of seven boys to the State Reform school, at Golden, because they covered a stray dog with turpentine and then set it on fire. The dog was discovered, suffering excruciating pain, and had to be shot by a state humane officer.

In one-half hour 50 acres of fruit trees overrun with caterpillars were recently sprayed from an airplane more cheaply and effectively than possible by other methods, according to an English report.
